Participant for all coaching will be selected based, in large part, on the information provided in this application (see below). In general, Dads will be selected based upon the anticipated positive impact the coaching will have on the applicant-father (and in the case of the “Master Mind” group in particular, the anticipated positive impact the applicant-father will have on the other dads.)

Please take care to answer each of the following questions to the best of your ability. In order for us to fairly determine your compatibility for this coaching, your thorough and complete answers are critical.
